

Val De Boides

Natural Apple Cider

A cider made from Asturian apples that the “Cider of Asturias” Protected Designation of Origin Regulatory Board has determined as being valid varieties for making this cider in terms of the parameters of acidity, volatility, etc., considered in the regulations.

It presents a pale yellow cider with a fruity aroma, pleasant taste and smell and a touch of fixed acidity (characteristic of these varieties) that highlights its freshness.

It is a perfect accompaniment for fish, seafood and meats, as well as for sharing different tapas among friends. Preferably served by pouring from a height (in Asturian, escanciando), or at the table, in a very thin cider glass.
