

Terrenus

- Red -

Winemaking:

Terrenus is a red wine produced with red grapes from old vines of Aragonês, Trincadeira, and Alicante Bouchet planted in the Alentejo wine region. The fermentation process has occurred in cement's Lagares, at controlled temperatures. After the fermentation process has occurred, the wine was transferred to new's French oak barrels where it has staged, for 12 months prior to being bottled.

Tasting Notes:

Terrenus is an imposing, solid, and elegant red wine from red grapes from old vines. It is a robust wine, with imposing but juicy tannins, soft acidity and super structured.
