

La Jurisdicción

D.O. Bierzo

Winery Notes:

This story began four decades ago before Samuel Lopez & Adela Folgueral took over the running of the family vineyards. It used to serve as the family livelihood of the ancestors who sold grapes and wine in bulk to small costumers in the area. This is a project which aims to add extra value to the vineyards that the family has owned and farmed in the village over several generations. Our wines start to be elaborated in the plot and there, in the grapevine, the most important stage of the process takes place. Each step, like pruning, crop thinning, treatments and harvesting is oriented to obtain wines with pure characteristics from the terroir where the flavors and tastes are then able to be transmitted to the palate.

The winemaking process aims to be environmentally friendly, with regulated production and ecologically sustainable, allowing the bunches in each plantation to ripen in a healthy and balanced way, whilst demonstrating all the unique characteristics of each spot of land.

Wine Making Notes:

Wine produced with 100% Godello grapes from the family lands, mainly from the town Villalibre de la Jurisdicción, from where it takes its name. A tribute to summer and the green, lush colors of the vines in peak condition.

The wine harvest is carried out manually, carefully selected in 20kg baskets. The destemming process takes place at the winery's entrance, and then pressed to initiate fermentation in stainless steel vats. The harvest begins early, with the aim of finding the appropriate balance between acidity and freshness. The grape juice is cleaned at low temperature for 24 hours. A young wine which matures with its fine lees for several months, at the end of which it is decanted and filtered. After 8 months it is bottled and left to rest in boxes.

Tasting notes:

It appears pale yellow with a slightly greenish rim, with fine and slow-falling droplets. On the nose, citric notes, flowers and white fruit are characteristic. In the mouth it has a certain density and vertical acidity, in the aftertaste citric notes with a short finish appear again.
